On behalf of the NZRU, it is my great pleasure to welcome you to the 2010 season of the ITM Cup, New Zealand's great provincial competition.

We believe that New Zealand's provincial rugby competitions are the best in the world, and we are determined that they will continue as such. We see these competitions as vital to New Zealand's rugby success and integral to the realisation of the Vision for rugby in New Zealand: rugby - inspiring and unifying New Zealanders.

The ITM Cup is a competition that thrives on passion, pride and provincial rivalry. It offers a wonderful opportunity to showcase great emerging talent, and has been a launchpad for players, coaches, officials and administrators. The competition also provides rugby supporters with high-quality rugby in their local community. The on-field matchups and off-field mateship that characterise provincial rugby in New Zealand remain as attractive as they did 135 years ago when Auckland Clubs took on Dunedin Clubs in New Zealand's first interprovincial match.

We were greatly encouraged by the public's support for provincial rugby in 2009. The strong growth in television audiences and the visibility of the competition were hugely positive. We want to see that passion and enthusiasm shown again in 2010 and to grow it for the future.

There were a number of highlights in provincial rugby in 2009. Canterbury won a second successive title, beating 2008 Finalist Wellington at AMI Stadium. The Ranfurly Shield made its way south over the course of the season when Canterbury took it off Wellington and lost it a few weeks later to Southland – who lifted the Shield for the first time since they won it off Taranaki in 1959. Across the competition there were upsets, close and hard-fought matches, over 400 tries, and several players who earned national selection on the back of their performances for their provinces.

The media plays an important role in covering and promoting provincial rugby in New Zealand Thank you for your hard work and enthusiasm as you discuss and debate the issues and events occurring throughout the 2010 ITM Cup.

No matter which team you support, I trust you will all enjoy the rugby.

BEST WISHES,

John Sturgeon MBE
NZRU President

At ITM we are very excited with our sponsorship of the ITM Cup.

The national provincial championship holds a very special place in the hearts of all rugby-loving kiwis.

With its links to the past the ITM Cup is also our glimpse into the future of New Zealand rugby. One of the most exciting aspects of the competition is the opportunity to identify new talent. Every year new exciting players emerge and we build a picture of the depth of talent in the All Blacks of the future.

The “Log o’ Wood” is the stuff of dreams and brings out the passion in teams and their supporters. The Ranfurly Shield is an institution and gives rugby in New Zealand a strong anchor to rugby tradition at its best. This sense of history is important, it is nationwide and goes back over 100 years.

Our 91 stores are located from Mangonui in the north to Invercargill in the south. The response we have had from our early involvement in the ITM Cup from store owners, store staff, our customers and suppliers across the country has been overwhelmingly positive. Everyone has a province of origin the lines are drawn and the colours are flying.

We are really looking forward to being part of the ITM Cup this year and into the future.

WINNER
OF SEMIFINAL 2

In 2010 the ITM Cup will be contested in two stages, comprising 94 matches over 15 weeks.

The 2010 ITM Cup will kick off on Thursday 29 July 2010 with the Final played on Friday 5 November.

Round Robin

The Round Robin will consist of each Provincial Union playing:

- a. 13 matches against all other Provincial Unions in the competition over 13 consecutive weeks; and
- b. Six home and seven away or seven home and six away matches.

Ranfurly Shield

The Ranfurly Shield will be contested in each of the holder's home matches during the Round Robin stage only.

Finals

The top four teams at the conclusion of the Round Robin will advance to the semifinals. These four teams will be ranked 1 to 4 based on their competition points accumulated during the Round Robin. The semifinal match ups will be as follows: 1 v 4, and 2 v 3. The winners of the two semifinals will progress to the final.

Throughout the Finals, the higher-seeded team in any match will play at home.

2011 and beyond

As already announced, the format of the ITM Cup will change from 2011. The existing 14 teams will be split into two divisions of seven teams each – the “Premiership” and the “Championship” – based on finishing positions in 2010.

Each team will play every other team in its division, as well as a selection of four other opponents from the other division, eg a Premiership team will play 6 games against Premiership opponents and a further four games against Championship opponents. Teams will accumulate points in the normal manner against all opponents, regardless of which division they are from.

Once the round robin and inter-divisional games are completed, there will be a semifinal and Final (in the same manner as in the 2010 ITM Cup) in each division to determine the division winners, except in 2011 when each division will move straight to a Final, as a result of the reduced match schedule required to accommodate the Rugby World Cup tournament. The winner of the Championship in each year will be promoted to the Premiership for the following year, while the last-placed team in the Premiership in each year will be relegated to the Championship for the following year.

2009 was a tremendous year for fans of Ranfurly Shield rugby as the Shield left the Capital and headed south - and then ended up breaking a fifty-year drought and spending the summer as far south as it could go.

Wellington had convincing early defences against Wairarapa Bush and 2008 Meads Cup winner, Wanganui. Otago then put up a spirited challenge in the first provincial championship match for the season before narrowly conceding defeat, as did Auckland in the next challenge.

One of the most intense matches of the 2009 season was Canterbury's challenge in late August. Both sides featured many of their All Blacks but a scorching first half performance from the red and blacks proved insurmountable.

The Shield returned to Christchurch for the first time since 2007's loss to North Harbour. It then looked like the Shield might spend the summer in the Garden City as Canterbury topped the competition points table and saw off challenges from Otago, Taranaki, Northland and Manawatu.

But on Thursday 22 October, Southland pulled off a tremendous victory, keeping Canterbury to just three points, and carried the Ranfurly Shield back to the deep south for the first time in 50 years. The win from the Stags delighted their supporters around the world, sparked weeks of celebrations and demonstrated again that the Shield holds a special place in New Zealand communities and that Shield fever is alive and well in provincial rugby.
